So now many parents fear the MMR vaccine, and some downright refuse it. They'll put their children in a speeding automobile a medians throw away from a twenty-ton eighteen-wheeler rocketing in the opposite direction. They'll let their children ride in an airplane traveling 500 miles-per-hour at an elevation of 35,000 feet. They'll allow their children to swim unattended and ride bicycles without helmets and get on slapped-together carnival rides run by a guy sporting more tattoos than teeth, but they won't get the MMR vaccine. It's too risky. After all, Dr. Wakefield looked at twelve kids, and those militant moms-the ones who don't want you vaccinating your children-agree with him.
